

11 Tempu-ra tends to be endemic in Memphis, Tennessee.

12 Is it Tennyson's wren that says, again and again, "Nevermore?"

13 Hand me the tin of pins and the ten tin pens. No, first hand me the ten tin pens

14 and then ten tin pins from the tin pin tin. No, only one tin pin from the tin pin tin

15 and rather than the ten tin pens, just hand me one tin pen and one more tin pin

16 from the tin pin tin.

PRACTICE SENTENCES USING en AND em

17 Tennessee's tennis men went again.

18 Ben's pen has a bent end.

19 Kenny's gentle kennel is in Denver.

20 Many censured wenches attended.

21 End tenure for the tenors!

22 Be content with elementa-ry Zen.

23 We've rented our tents for mere cents.

24 Ken invented identities for the men.

25 Did many men get any bread on Wednesday? 'wenz dɪ

26 Emma remembered those temperamental lemons.

27 But gems are so feminine, Empe-ror!

28 Remember to tend the embers, Dempsey.

29 She emulated an eminent femme fatale.

30 Emily's memo-ry resembles Clementine's.

31 "Temper, temper," emanated from the embassy.

32 The anti-temperance league tempo-ra-rily remedied the trembling victims' tremors.

33 The Tempest tempted me to emigrate.